Dr. Michael Redmond is a physiatrist in South Carolina with a fellowship training of one year beyond residency in EMG. He has devoted his whole career to nerve testing and has done over 100,000 studies (not just pudendal tests). He delivers nerve blocks using nerve stimulation techniques. Pudendal nerve disorders are part of his overall practice, which includes EMG/NCS, interventional treatments (injections), and comprehensive pain clinic services (med management, pelvic floor PT, and behavioral support).
